Diane Elmore Borbon, PhD, MPH
UCLA/Duke University National Center for Child Traumatic Stress, USA
Brief Bio

Diane Elmore Borbon, PhD, MPH is a psychologist and the Washington, DC-based Director of the Policy Program for the UCLA-Duke University National Center for Child Traumatic Stress, the coordinating center for the National Child Traumatic Stress Network (NCTSN). She is also an Adjunct Professor in the School of Public Affairs at the American University. Previously she served as Director of the American Psychological Association's (APA) Public Interest Government Relations Office; Director of the APA Congressional Fellowship Program; coordinator of APA activities related to military service members, veterans, and their families; and worked on health care issues in the United States Senate. Dr. Elmore Borbon earned her PhD in Counseling Psychology from the University of Houston, MA and BA in Psychology from Pepperdine University, and MPH from Johns Hopkins University with a dual concentration in health policy and public health preparedness. She completed her predoctoral residency at the Honolulu Veterans Affairs Medical Center/National Center for PTSD, Pacific Islands Division. Dr. Elmore Borbon is a Past-President of the International Society for Traumatic Stress Studies (ISTSS), Chair of the ISTSS Public Health and Policy Committee, Chair of the Public Policy Committee for the APA Division 56: Trauma Psychology, a member of the Board of the International Center for the Study, Prevention, and Treatment of Multigenerational Legacies of Trauma, and an Associate Editor for Psychological Trauma: Theory, Research, Practice, and Policy. In 2019, she received the University of Houston Distinguished Alumni Award; in 2016, she received the ISTSS Public Advocacy Award; and in 2007, she received the ISTSS Chaim Danieli Young Professional Award. Her work focuses on the translation and dissemination of scientific and clinical knowledge to policymakers, government leaders, and key decision makers on public health and trauma policy issues to address the needs of underserved populations.